

At Perran-ar-Worthal School we believe that the key aim of assessment is to support pupil achievement and progress. Assessment is an integral part of teaching and learning. Teachers use assessment to inform their teaching and also to give children feedback about their learning or the next step needed to move their learning on. The feedback teachers give children about their learning is crucial and underpins the potential progress that the children can make through a planned progression of a program of study or unit of work.

1. This policy meets with the Teacher's Standards 2013 where teachers must:
 - Make accurate and productive use of assessment
 - Know and understand how to assess the relevant subject and curriculum areas, including statutory assessment requirements
 - Make use of formative and summative assessment to secure pupils' progress
 - Use relevant data to monitor progress, set targets, and plan subsequent lessons
 - Give pupils regular feedback, both orally and through accurate marking, and encourage pupils to respond to the feedback.
2. At Perran-ar-Worthal School we assess children's work in order to:
 - Show that we value their effort and encourage them to do the same.
 - Boost their self-esteem and aspirations through positive encouragement and praise.
 - Give the pupils and their parents a clear picture of how far they have progressed and identify the next steps in order to meet national or individual expectations.
 - Enable teachers to plan next steps or intervention support where necessary.
 - Enable all pupils, including pupils with SEND, to make appropriate progress
3. At Perran-ar-Worthal School, assessment takes many forms. These can include:
 - EYFS Assessment
 - Baseline Assessment, which takes place within the first 6 weeks of a child starting school.
 - Tapestry, which is an online formative assessment that becomes summative at the end of the year.
 - Formative
 - Live marking, which takes place during the lesson to immediately address any misconceptions.
 - Pupil self-assessment and peer-assessment, which takes place during a lesson.
 - Next step marking and feedback, which takes place after a lesson has been taught.
 - Effective questioning during the lesson i.e. mini plenaries and end of lesson plenaries.
 - Low-stakes testing, which is used at the end of a lesson to check their learning in the form of a multiple choice style quiz i.e. active retrieval that aids retention.
 - Summative

- Tests that are administered either at the end of a term or a unit of work taught, to assess a child's knowledge and level of understanding.
- National Summative Assessment - statutory tests used by the government to hold schools to account. These take place towards the end of an academic year. These tests include:
 - Year 1 phonics screening
 - End of KS1 tests (reading and maths and optional Grammar, Punctuation and Spelling). Writing is teacher assessed.
 - Year 4 Multiplication Check
 - End of KS2 tests (reading, maths and Grammar, Punctuation and Spelling). Writing is teacher assessed.
 - End of KS2 Science tests (schools are selected at random for these compulsory tests)

4. SEND

- Where pupils may have an EHCP, any assessments are appropriately matched to their ability and to check progress against their Individual Objectives. The SENDCO will also carry out specific diagnostic tests for some pupils e.g. Dyslexia Test. These tests can be requested by parents or the class teacher. In all cases, parents will be asked for their permission to have their child tested.

5. Reporting

- Parental consultations are held termly for teachers to keep parents informed of their child's progress where the results of assessments may also be shared. An end of year report is sent home which provides parents with their child's end of year assessment results.
- Each term, the HT shares a detailed data report with governors to ensure they are kept well informed of whole school progress towards objectives.
- Report to pupils may take the form of:
 - Verbal feedback
 - Written feedback in books
 - Sharing their completed formal assessments
- Maintained schools inform the Local Authority of assessment results for EYFS, end of KS1 and end of KS2. These results are then used to generate reports that school staff are able to access. The Local Authority inform the DfE of the schools results which, once finalised, are published in the public domain.

6. Training

- All school staff receive appropriate and relevant training to ensure assessment procedures are robust and consistent. This training also includes opportunities to take part in internal and external moderation meetings.

7. Pupil self-assessment

- Self-assessment circles – these are used on a daily basis following an activity in maths and English.
- Reading and Writing check lists – these are available in the daily English books for reference throughout the year.
- Small steps to success – these are used for pupils to track their progress through a unit of work in maths, science and in foundation subjects to show what they will be learning next.
